ORDERED TO GET OUT.

Notice Served on Spain to Evacuate Cuba.

SHE MUST COMPLY AT ONCE.

Otherwise a Forward Movement Will Be Ordered.

A FLAT REFUSAL IS EXPECTED.

Then She Will Be Held In Contempt and Punished.

EVERYTHING READY FOR ACTION.

Whether War Will Be Formally Declared or Whether the North Atlantic Squadron Will Be Sent to Cuba to Take Summary Action Is Not Made Public.

Washington, April 20.—SPAIN HAS BEEN INFORMED THAT THE CUBAN RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY CONGRESS ARE NOW A PART OF THE LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES, AND AN ULTIMATUM HAS BEEN SENT DEMANDING COMPLIANCE WITH THIS LAW AND AN ANSWER WITHIN A VERY SHORT TIME, PROBABLY 24 HOURS.

COMPLIANCE IS NOT EXPECTED, AND A FORWARD MOVEMENT ON CUBA WILL COMMENCE THE LATTER PART OF THIS WEEK, ACCORDING TO THE PLANS OF THE ADMINISTRATION.

The congressional Cuban resolution was not signed until morning. The ultimatum to Spain was signed at the same time. The president decided to make the two practically one act by a simultaneous signature of each.

TWO CABINET MEETINGS were held during the day, the first beginning at 11 and lasting nearly two hours, and the second lasting from 3 to 5:30 p. m. At their close announcement that executive action was delayed until morning was made. Both cabinet sessions were devoted principally to discussion of the ultimatum to be sent to Madrid.

At the morning session the president rather favored allowing the Madrid government two or even three days in which to reply to our demand, but later he changed his views somewhat and decided to require an answer within a very short time, probably within 24 hours.

THE REASON FOR LIMITING TIME to one day, or even less, is said to be entirely strategic, otherwise two or even three days would have been allowed.

THE ULTIMATUM IS SHORT AND TO THE POINT. IT RECITES THE MAIN FEATURES OF THE RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY CONGRESS AND DEMANDS A COMPLIANCE THEREWITH.

The full text of the ultimatum will probably not be made public here until notice is received that it is in the hands of the Spanish government, diplomatic etiquette requiring this.

The Cuban resolution passed by congress arrived at the White House at 1:15 p. m., a little over an hour having been consumed in the formalities of securing the signatures of Speaker Reed and Vice President Hobart to the resolution in open session, and its delivery at the White House by Representative Hager of Iowa, chairman of the committee on enrolled bills, and Representative Overstreet of Indiana.

IT WAS EXPECTED that the resolution would be signed immediately it reached the president, and this was Mr. McKinley's inclination, but for certain state reasons it was deemed advisable that the resolution and the ultimatum to Spain should be signed simultaneously, and time was needed to draft the ultimatum in diplomatic form.

The steady progress of military and naval preparations indicated the conviction on the part of the administration that a peaceful solution of existing difficulties is not probable.

MINISTER WOODFORD will notify the Spanish government of the action of the government of the United States, and should the Spanish answer be unsatisfactory, as is expected, the next step in order will be for him to ask for his passports and leave Madrid.

That would be followed instantly by the withdrawal from Washington of Senor Polo, the Spanish minister. State department officials are confident that the Spanish government will so shape every phase of the negotiations as to oblige us to take the initiative at every point.

After the withdrawal of the ministers, and, assuming Spain does not back down,

ACTUAL WAR WILL FOLLOW, but whether or not the first overt act will be preceded by a formal declaration of war, which would insure the immediate neutralization of the powers, or whether the north Atlantic squadron will make its appearance off Havana as a beginning, can not yet be predicted.

The army and navy experts are beginning to take a less hopeful view of an easy and quick campaign than they entertained a short time ago, and very sapient scheme of locking the door after the horse is stolen.

Mr. Allen declared that he was quite satisfied that, under the present arrangement the island of Cuba would pass into the hands of "financial cormorants and financial buzzards," unless the United States should at once take measures to protect the island and its people.

RIVER AND HARBOR MEASURE.

Mr. Pettus (Ala.) offered an amendment to the sundry civil bill providing for the coaling of ships of war and their barges at the wharves at Mobile, and providing for an appropriation of $200,000, to be expended by the secretary of war as he may decide. Mr. Pettus urged that this was a war measure and ought to be adopted.

Mr. Gorman (Md.) urged Mr. Pettus to withdraw the amendment. Other Senators, he said, withheld similar amendments which they had been urged to press because it was not desirable that the sundry civil bill should be a river and harbor measure. Mr. Pettus then withdrew the amendment.

In the course of a dry routine discussion of a minor amendment to the pending bill, Mr. Cockrell (Mo.) injected some life into the debate by throwing down the gauntlet to Mr. Hale for some utterances the latter had made during the Cuban debate. He expressed the desire that Mr. Hale would use his great influence to get the Republicans in line upon the pending amendment.

Mr. Hale expressed the hope that all Republicans would be found in solid phalanx in support of their president and their party. "I may be pardoned, too, for expressing the hope," said Mr. Hale, tauntingly, "that all Democrats and all members of other parties shall be found supporting not the president alone, but the country, in all patriotic matters."

NO TAIL FOR A KITE.

"I, too, shall welcome the day when men of all parties may join with the president in support of patriotic policies," declared Mr. Cockrell, "but if the president of the United States expects me to be a tail to his kite and to swing along to his coat tails, he will find himself greatly mistaken."

Mr. Cockrell then launched into an extended speech in which he sharply attacked the administration and congress for their action on the Cuban question. Mr. Cockrell adverted to the purpose of the resolution passed, intimating that it would enable those so inclined to take advantage of the Cuban patriots.

When he referred to the action of the senate and of congress, Mr. Hale interrupted him to inquire why it was that the Democrats of the senate, practically as a body, voted against the action for which they had been clamoring for months.

"I can understand," he said, "the senator from Missouri may be a trifle sensitive over night."

"Not at all," declared Mr. Cockrell, "I never was more glad of any vote that I ever cast. The votes we cast were a manifestation of devotion to principle, to principles long upheld by the Cuban patriots."

OPPOSED TO ANY ACTION.

Mr. Hale then called attention to the forecast he had made last Saturday night, which was in effect that the Democrats were opposed to any action. He did not expect his forecast to be so soon substantiated.

Mr. Cockrell replied that when the question finally came before the senate it was on the particular matter as to whether the recognition of independence should be incorporated in the resolutions. That amendment, Mr. Cockrell contended, was the only point in issue on the final vote.

"As a matter of fact," interjected Mr. Spooner, "this whole business was a party play—a Democratic party play—and they can't put men on this side of the chamber in a hole by any exhibition of a 'holier-than-thou' policy on that point."

Mr. Bacon (Ga.) continued the discussion of the position of the Democrats, taking the same position he took Monday night—that as the Democrats had voted time and again in support of their position, so they voted to sustain it by opposing the conference report, which struck out the provision for recognition of independence.

Mr. Bacon contended that as only matters of difference go into conference, the vote in the senate on the conference committee report was only on the Turpie amendment for the recognition of the insurgents, and that consequently those who had voted against the conference report had only again recorded themselves in favor of the Turpie amendment.

OFF FOR MOBILE.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., April 20.—The battalion of the Nineteenth infantry, stationed at Fort Brady, left for Mobile on a special train composed of six sleepers and four freight cars. The soldiers were escorted to the depot by city officials, the local company of state troops and a brass band.

SEVENTEENTH DEPARTS.

Columbus, O., April 20.—A crowd estimated at 30,000 was filled with martial spirit when the Seventeenth regiment of regulars marched from the barracks to the depot. They were escorted by the Veteran legion, Governor Bushnell and other notables. They took a Pennsylvania special train en route to Tampa, Fla.

THINK THERE WILL BE NO WAR.

New York, April 20.—There are men in Wall street still who believe that not a gun will be fired in war between the United States and Spain. It is difficult to find what they base this assumption on, but they hold it with sufficient tenacity to decline to sell out their holdings in securities, and they buy additional securities at any material decline.

ENGLISHMEN WANT TO ENLIST.

London, April 20.—There have been many applications at the United States embassy and at the United States consulate here for enlistment in the United States army or navy. Most of the applicants were Englishmen, including several officers and former officers of the British army of lieutenant's grade.

HAS PLenty TO DO.

Washington, April 20.—Lieutenant Colonel Frank G. Smith, Sixth artillery, in addition to his duties as a member and secretary of the Chickamauga park commission, has been ordered to report to the commanding general, Department of the Gulf, for assignment to duty as inspector of artillery of that department, with station at Atlanta.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN MADRID.

Madrid, April 20.—There is great excitement in all political circles. It is considered certain that the Republicans and Carlists will ask the government to give them an opportunity of discussing their policy, but no one will oppose a grant of all the powers necessary for war, since such an action would entail public unpopularity.

NOT FOR THE SPANISH FLEET.

Washington, April 20.—The navy department has received satisfactory information that the coal loaded at Newport News upon the British tramp steamer Hempstead is not, as was supposed, intended for the Spanish naval craft at the Cape Verde islands, but is for a line of merchant steamers.

THEY WANT PROTECTION.

Washington, April 20.—Applicants are pouring into the war and navy departments for the immediate protection of supposedly exposed points on the Atlantic and gulf seaboard. Some towns ask for the immediate construction of batteries, while others want warships stationed off the shore.

WILL BE NO PRIVATEERING.

Paris, April 20.—The Temps says the question of privateering is receiving "the closest attention in proper quarters." It is admitted that it has been suggested that the powers should address notes to Washington and Madrid expressing the hope that they will not employ privateers.

ONLY BY A MIRACLE.

London, April 20.—The city is relinquishing all hopes of peace between the United States and Spain, and considers that war can only be averted by a miracle.

GIVE LEE A CHANCE.

Washington, April 20.—The two Virginians desire to consolidate their militia into one brigade, under the command of General Fitzhugh Lee.

ANARCHY REIGNS.

Madrid, April 20.—El Epoca (Conservative) asserts that "anarchy reigns in the legislative and executive branches of the government."

NO DOUBT OF IT.

Madrid, April 20.—El Heraldo says war is inevitable and even imminent.

SUICIDED IN CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, April 20.—Annie McAfee, a young society girl of Danville, Ky., committed suicide in a room at the St. Clair hotel, at Sixth and Mound streets. She took carbolic acid and morphine.

WHY IS THIS THUSLY?

Members of Congress Explain Their Cuban Votes.

SERIOUS CHARGES ARE MADE

Alleged That Politics Cut a Very Huge Figure.

THIS IS VERY PROMPTLY DENIED.

Congressman Grosvenor Explains What He Meant When He Said the War Would Be Fought Under the Republican Administration's Banner.

Washington, April 20.—The house presented a most desolate appearance when it convened at noon, after the weary all-night session.

While the journal was being read Mr. Hager (Rep., Ia.), chairman of the committee on enrolled bills, brought in the Cuban resolutions which had been enrolled under his personal direction.

The speaker immediately signed them, and as soon as the reading of the journal was concluded, at 12:16 p. m., he announced his signature.

There was no demonstration. The enrolling clerk at his side seized the resolutions and hurried with them across the Capitol.

Mr. Grosvenor then, as a question of personal privilege, had read at the clerk's desk an editorial in a New York paper commenting upon his statement in the house on April 7 that "this war will be fought under the banner of the Republican administration of this government or it will not be fought at all."

GROSVENOR EXPLAINS.

Mr. Grosvenor explained the circumstances under which the statement was made. He had been delighted with the record the Democratic party had made, and in the statement he had only meant that as the present administration had three years to run the war which was upon us must be fought during its life or not at all.

He had meant no reflection, and had appealed to both sides of the house to stand by the executive who had been assaulted.

"In this connection," continued Mr. Grosvenor, "I desire to say I believe this war will be energetically waged, both in a military sense and in the legislation necessary to carry it on, and I believe the response to the call to arms will be unanimous."

"There will be no political division. It will come from Democrats and Populists, as well as from Republicans, and especially do I believe the response to patriotism will come from every southern state and that the whole Union will share the triumphant echo of loyalty." [Great applause.]

Mr. Dingley stated that in view of the fact that the house had been sitting all night and that the members were weary, he would move to adjourn. Accordingly, at 12:32 p. m., the house adjourned.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, April 20.—Comparatively little business was transacted by the senate, all of the senators being fatigued on account of their long vigil over the Cuban resolutions.

Consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was resumed and the wide latitude of the debate permitted under the rules of the senate afforded opportunity for some explanations to be made concerning the action of the senate upon the Cuban question.

Mr. Cockrell (Mo.) and Mr. Bacon (Ga.) explained the action of the Democrats in voting against the conference report in the early hours of the morning, and the colloquies that ensued between them and some of the Republican senators were spicy and interesting.

A running fire of debate was precipitated which was participated in by Mr. Mantle (Mon.), Mr. Cannon (Utah), Mr. Hale (Me.), Mr. Spooner (Wis.), and others, the discussion lasting about three hours.

At 12:27 p. m. a message was received from the house of representatives announcing the signature of the speaker to the Cuban resolutions. Eight minutes afterward the vice president announced his signature to the Cuban resolutions.

RECOGNITION DESIRED.

In accordance with his announcement that he proposed to insist upon the independence of the Cuban republic, Mr. Allen (Neb.) offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on foreign relations: "That the political independence of the Republic of Cuba, the capital of which is located at Caba, is hereby recognized by the United States of America as the lawful government of the island of Cuba; that the United States hereby pledges to said republic its friendly offices in the adjustment of its financial affairs with the Kingdom of Spain or the holders of Spanish bonds or indebtedness, issued against or made chargeable to Cuba; that so far as the influence of the United States may properly be exercised, it will insist that said republic shall not be charged with the bonded or other indebtedness of Spain contracted during or prior to hostilities between the respective governments of Cuba and Spain."

Mr. Stewart (Nev.) said the resolution reminded him of the very ancient months are now mentioned instead of weeks as the probable length of hostilities.

VIGOR IS UNABATED.

Washington, April 20.—Military and naval preparations continue with unabated vigor. Seven fleet steam yachts suitable for navigation in Cuban waters were procured, and several bids for steam colliers were made. Many agents for ship owners were at the navy department offering to sell crafts to the government, but where the vessels are suitable the prices are said to be excessive, and no purchases were made. The important event in the war department was the decision to enlist only national guardsmen under the first call for troops, which will be very gratifying to the militiamen.

FUNCTION OF MOSQUITO FLEET.

Washington, April 20.—There appears to be a mistaken impression in some quarters as to the functions of the mosquito fleet. It is not destined for shore guard, nor yet for attack, but the primary use of the vessels of this fleet will be to protect the battleships and other ironclads from attack by torpedo boats and destroyers. The purpose is to create in the navy something like the same system that prevails in the army in conducting hostile operations. The battleships correspond to the heavy artillery, the mosquito fleet to infantry, and the torpedo boats to cavalry.

SPAIN HAS LOST CUBA.

Rome, April 20.—The powers are on the eve of requesting the United States and Spain in the event of war, to localize the hostilities to Cuba and the neighboring waters. This step will be taken immediately after a declaration of war. Utter pessimism prevails in diplomatic quarters here, the Vatican alone continuing hopeful of peace. The pope is working energetically to be accepted as arbitrator, but he admits that Cuba has already morally ceased to belong to Spain.

A REMARKABLE OVATION.

Cincinnati, April 20.—Thousands upon thousands of deeply moved and keenly interested spectators witnessed the remarkable ovation given the Sixth United States infantry on its departure for Tampa. It was a spontaneous outpouring of the people glad to give expression to the deep feeling in favor of punishing Spain and showing a friendly spirit to Colonel Cochran and the soldiers of his command.

LIGHT ARMOR TO BE USED.

Washington, April 20.—The navy department has arranged to place some light armor on the four vessels acquired from the Morgan line—the Prairie, Yosemite, Yankee and Dixie. The Carnegie company has undertaken to roll immediately light steel plate, 1½ inches thick. Two layers of this plate will be placed around the boiler and engine rooms of the boats, making about 250 tons of armor in each case.

THE OLD SMOOTH BORES.

Washington, April 20.—The board of naval bureau chiefs is considering the advisability of utilizing some of the old converted smoothbore guns for the auxiliary cruisers. Working day and night and using up the raw material for the manufacture of guns as rapidly as it can be produced, the naval ordnance bureau is unable to supply the enormous demand now made upon it for guns of medium caliber.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS READY.

Portsmouth, O., April 20.—The Tenth regiment, Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, has offered its services to Governor Bushnell in the event of war with Spain. The regiment comprises about 500 drilled men, divided into six companies, located in this city and surrounding towns, and two more are being organized. The regiment is commanded by Colonel Cook, whose headquarters are in Ironton.

Chicago, April 20.—Major General Brooke left for Chickamauga over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad. A special car was provided for his party, which consisted of himself, Mrs. Brooke, Captain and Mrs. William V. Richards and boy, First Lieutenant and Mrs. James T. Dean, Lieutenant Frank B. McKenna, and Lieutenant Colonel Albert Hartsuff.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

One Supreme Wrong For Which Spain Must Make Full Restitution.

[New York Tribune.]

There is one supreme wrong, for which fullest reparation is urgently demanded. Whatever else may be forgotten, it never can be. Whatever else may be compromised, it never can be. It involves within itself every element of wrong that any and all the rest contain, and more. It touches at once the financial interests of the nation, the security of property, the sanctity of human lives, and the honor of the nation.

That is the destruction of the Maine. It is to be kept in mind whatever of peaceful negotiations may yet be possible. It is to furnish the chief rallying cry in war, if war there be. There must be reparation for the awful wrong. The other injuries this nation has suffered must be atoned for, but the Maine must be remembered. The woes of the Cuban people must be atoned for, but the Maine must be remembered. The life-long menace to American peace and welfare must at last be ended, but the Maine must be remembered. The outrage upon humanity must be abolished, but the Maine must be remembered. There can be no sentiment of the Cuban question until that part of it is settled. "Remember the Maine!" was the cry of the Texans in their war for independence, more than half a century ago. Spain will have no one to blame for herself if her flag is forced to vanish from the western hemisphere to the cry of "Remember the Maine!"

CROSSING THE RUBICON.

How the Saying Originated in the Long Long Ago.

[Exchange.]

For more than nineteen centuries both men and nations have been "crossing the Rubicon," and, in a general way, the present-day public understands that Julius Caesar, an eminent personage of ancient Rome, inaugurated that custom. But not one man in fifty, perhaps, is familiar with the precise circumstances which gave to the world that famous saying indicative of the taking of any decisive or irrevocable step.

The Rubicon is a small stream—hardly worthy of the name of river—in North-central Italy. It is formed by the junction of several creeks, which have their source in the Apennine mountains, and it empties into the Adriatic sea. In the wet season it becomes a torrent, due to the descent of melted snow from the mountains, but in the dry season it is a very diminutive rivulet. Its name is derived from the reddish tint of its waters, due to the color of the soil through which it flows.

Midway of the first century before the Christian era, Pompey and Caesar were the two great military personages of the Roman Empire. Each had high political aspirations, and each was jealous of the other. Pompey, at that time, was in the city of Rome and Caesar was Governor of the Province of Gaul, known at the present time as France. Now, the southern boundary of Gaul, over which Caesar ruled, was the river Rubicon.

The rivalry between Pompey and Caesar became acute, and Caesar, realizing that, great as was the Roman Empire, it was nevertheless too small to contain the ambitions of both his rival and himself, began to move his legions southward toward the Imperial City. So long as he remained in Gaul, however, no clash between the two men was possible. This was the situation when, on the night of November 27, fifty years before Christ, as we now reckon time, Caesar arrived on the north bank of the Rubicon. If he remained where he was, in Gaul, Caesar knew that Pompey might become the supreme power in the Empire, whereas, if he took his troops one step further, he knew that a conflict with Pompey was inevitable.

Caesar crossed the Rubicon, and from that moment war between the two great generals was inevitable. The fording of that stream by Caesar's legions affected the whole history of the world.

BRICK STREETS.

An Argument in Their Favor by An Indiana Civil Engineer—They Stand the Test.

[Washington, Ind., Herald.]

A. W. Smith, the Kokomo city engineer, gives his views of brick streets as follows: "In discussing the subject of street paving; we must keep in mind the fact that the public has to be educated up to the idea that it is not necessary to live in the mud and dirt which was common a few years ago. Then we made a macadam street one year, and the next were 'raising Cain' with the Street Commissioner because he did not get those holes filled up before the street was ruined; and if there happened not to be a good bottom, didn't the engineer, Councilmen and everybody else catch it for putting in such a street.

"Just how long it will take to educate the people (and some of the Council) up to the fact that streets must be maintained, I do not know. Show me a city where the Council or Board of Public Works are indifferent as to what kind of an improvement they have, or too pecuniary and short-sighted to put in good permanent improvements, who are always suggesting that a little patching here or there will do, or, if they finally consent to building a new street, make it a cheap improvement that will soon call for the eternal patching,—show me such a place, and I will show you a place that can not hold its own progressive, public spirited business men. They are sure to go to a more wide awake town and surely desirable business men who are seeking a location will not select a place that is away behind the times.

"One of the best reasons for having good paved streets is that they may be kept clean. There is no estimating how much disease is prevented by having well paved streets that can be, and are, swept clean. Who ever heard of sweeping the filth that accumulates on macadam or other rough streets? That would be impossible, so it is left,—horse manure, banana peelings, excretion of humans afflicted with consumption and all kinds of diseases, with other innumerable and unmentionable filth,—all this is left for us to inhale in the dust that is blown about, and which might be largely prevented if streets were properly paved and kept clean. So, from a sanitary reason, if no other, we should have well paved streets. There is nothing that adds so much to the appearance of a place as fine streets.

"Our small cities have not the wealth to afford granite, neither have they the traffic to require it; but, on the other hand, it is not well to throw away money building a macadam or poor brick street, when there is a happy medium. I think the ideal pavement for cities, and many streets in small cities, and many streets in large cities, can be found in a good vitrified brick. The rapid development in brick paving that has been made in the last few years shows that it has passed the experimental stage, and is being recognized by those in authority as a very satisfactory pavement.

"Prof. J. B. Johnson, of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., says he finds paving brick to be stronger than granite; he has tested brick at 30,000 pounds pressure to the square inch, the strength of granite being 12,000 to 15,000 pounds. In addition to this, the fact that a brick pavement is one of the cheapest, as well as one of the easiest repaired, is clean, and gives good foothold for horses—taken all around it is a desirable material."

Editor Allen's Regiment of Delinquents.

[Cynthiana Democrat.]

Editor B. J. Newlon, of the Owenton Herald, who served under Col. John S. Mosby in the civil war, hopes to raise a company of cavalry composed entirely of Kentucky editors, to fight the dastard Spaniards. This is a good idea, and we can see no reason why Mr. Wilson, of the Log Cabin, Mr. Norris, of Times, and Councilman Smith, of the Courier, should not at once buckle on their sabers and mount their snorting chargers. They would look well on horseback. The Democrat proposes to raise a regiment of delinquent subscribers and take them right straight to the front where the cannon balls are thickest.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. Asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on J. James Wood, druggist, and get a trial bottle free. Regular size 50 cents and $1. THE GOEBEL LAW.

Republicans Are So Afraid it Will Ruin the Democratic Party They Will Fight it.

[Commercial-Tribune.]

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 18.—There will be contests galore over Kentucky seats in the next Congress. The present plan of the Republican State Central Committee is to institute contests in every district, provided the House of Representatives is Republican. The contests will be filed for the sole purpose of allowing the House to pass on the Goebel "force bill," which the most eminent lawyers in this State, regardless of party, hold to be in conflict with both the Federal election laws and the Kentucky Constitution.

A Republican politician who is an authority says that it has been determined to open separate polls in some of the counties in each Congressional district, at which the elections will be conducted under the old law. This will enable the contestants to make the issue squarely on the validity of the Goebel bill, and if Congress decided the law in conflict with the Federal election laws, the State delegation will thereby be made solidly Republican.

Congressman Davidson is also preparing to ignore the gerrymander law passed by the Legislature transferring Jackson County to the Eleventh district. Mr. Davidson says the gerrymander act is invalid, because the district as constituted by it does not contain the population required by the Federal statutes. Mr. Davidson says he will have separate polls opened, and will have himself voted for in Jackson County as though the gerrymander had not been passed, and will depend on Congress to settle the point in his favor. The same point has been raised in regard to the gerrymander of the Third district, and Senator William Henry Jones, who will probably be the Republican nominee in that district, also contemplates taking similar steps. This will, of course, be in the form of a supplemental contest in addition to that testing the validity of the Goebel bill.

The friends of Senator Goebel, the author of the "force bill," are much concerned over these developments, as they realize, should his law be declared unconstitutional and result in the seating of eleven Republican Congressmen from this State, it would be very detrimental to him in the race for Governor, in which, up to this time, he appears to be the leading candidate.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has lame back and weak kidneys, malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to liver and kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures constipation, headache, fainting spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c. a bottle at J. Jas. Wood's drug store.

"AN AWFUL DEAL"

Given a Crippled Tramp, But He Got Even.
Court Wouldn't Let Him Plead Guilt.

Thomas Graham, a crippled tramp, was in 'Squire Grant's court this morning charged with a breach of the peace. When informed of the charge, Thomas smilingly remarked to the court.

"I'll tell ye, Judge, I'll plead guilty, but only on one condition, that you suspend the sentence."

'Squire Grant had to smile at Thomas' plain talk, and remarked that he would have something to say on that point. When Thomas got through with his story, however, the 'Squire refused to allow him to plead guilty, and told him he could go.

The tramp is so badly crippled he has to walk with a crutch. He was resting in a door way on Wall street Tuesday afternoon when a fellow approached and put up a pitiful plea about feeling very bad, and asking the tramp to set 'em up. Thomas was feeling thirsty too, and concluded he would lay in a supply of liquor for his journey to the next town. Handing the fellow a dollar, the tramp told him to bring him a half pint of whisky and the change, and he would treat. The fellow, who is one of the frequenters of Wall street, didn't do a thing but go over to one of the saloons and spend the dollar for liquor for himself and friends.

The tramp finally got tired waiting, and going over he caught on to what had been done. "It was the worst deal I ever got, Judge," said Thomas to the court, "and to make it still worse, the fellow made a bluff about his brother having cut a man's throat once, and that he would do the same if I didn't get out. It was too much, Judge, and I jest concluded to give the fellow a drubbing."

Thomas gave the fellow such a beating with his crutch that he raised the neighborhood yelling murder.

The Tourists.

At the Tourist Club yesterday afternoon some very interesting papers were read—by Mrs. Robert Picklin on Madame de Maintenon; Miss Lettie Wood on the artist, Delacroix; Miss Lottie Respass on the Gypsies; Mrs. Randolph Madson contrasted the characters of the historic enemies Louis XI of France, the cunning diplomatist, and the belligerent Duke of Burgundy, and their manner of warfare, both active and passive.

The Court of Appeals, in an opinion by Judge Hazelrigg, rendered a decision holding the Louisville school census law, passed by the late Legislature, constitutional. This is a reversal of the lower court. It requires the school census in cities of the first class to be taken annually instead of every five years.

PRICE OF MULES.

The Market Has Advanced Since It Was Announced That Uncle Sam Appeared As a Buyer.

KANSAS CITY, April 19.—The Times is authority for the statement that a combination has been formed among the mule traders of Kansas City and St. Louis to take advantage of the necessities of the Government by raising the price of mules needed at once for the army.

Prices have been advanced fully 25 per cent., and another advance is planned.

The 200 mules sold in Kansas City last week for $83.40 a head and the 800 sold in St. Louis for $93 are said to have cost the dealers less than $50 a head.

The Government requires immediately 1,800 more mules, and for these a still higher price will be exacted by the men who have cornered the available supply.

[Equalizer.]

Colonel A. E. Boone, when asked at the Grand how the "Black Diamond" railroad work is progressing in these war times, said:

"Our Ohio corps of surveyors has reached Columbus; our Indiana corps is at Rushville, twenty-five miles of Indianapolis, and our Kentucky corps is at Clay City, where our road will cross the Kentucky river, en route for the Jellico Narrows. Our financial agent, Mr. Dickenson, of Washington, D. C., has been in London since February, and writes that the English capitalists are ready to take hold of our enterprise as soon as we are ready with our end of the work, but I suppose if we have a war that there will be no construction work done until the conflict is decided."

UNSOLVED MYSTERY

Is the Murder of Mrs. John O. Moore in Indianapolis.

PAPERS ARE FOUND INTACT.

Police Are Still Trying to Trace a Key Which Was Found on the Premises on the Day Following the Crime.

Indianapolis, April 20.—The murder of Mrs. John O. Moore continues an unsolved mystery. Sergeant Clawson of the Cincinnati police summoned the local authorities to open a safe in the DeRutter home to look after certain abstracts of real estate, which, if they were found to be missing, might throw some light on the affair.

The papers were found intact. Derk DeRutter, husband of Mrs. DeRutter, and a brother-in-law of the murdered woman, was present when the examination was made. The police are still trying to trace a key which was found on the premises a day or two after the murder was committed, and which might furnish an explanation, but at this hour the mystery seems impervious. Sergeant Clawson's leave of absence, which has been several times extended, will expire Wednesday. It looks very much at this writing as if the murder would go unavenged of the law.

First of the Season—Next.

Blocher, Ind., April 20.—George T. Slocum, near Lexington, while plowing on his farm had a lively experience with rattlesnakes. While tearing up an old fence row his plowshare caught in what he supposed was a bunch of roots, but which proved to be a squirming mass of reptiles. Mr. Slocum succeeded in getting his team away before the horses were bitten, and then arming himself with a fence rail, he undertook the extermination of the rattlers. The earth seemed to be alive with them. The reptiles seemingly were getting the best of the battle when a neighbor came to Mr. Slocum's assistance. One large snake, which proved to have 12 rattles, coiled itself around Mr. Slocum's feet, throwing him to the ground, and he scrambled loose barely in time to save himself. The battle continued until all of the rattlers were killed, 60 in number.

Duty on American Horses.

Indianapolis, April 20.—M. Courbaisse, a buyer of horses for the French market, and who is in constant attendance at the stockyards, this city, received a cablegram to stop purchases, as the French government had imposed a duty of $40 on every American horse. About 200 horses have been purchased monthly at this market for shipment to France.

A Long Sleep.

Brazil, Ind., April 20.—Miss Mary Golden, a pretty young woman, has been sleeping since last Tuesday. She retired on that night in her usual health, and every effort to awaken her has proved fruitless. Her physicians have applied all known restoratives without success, and are watching her case closely.

A Fatal Accident.

Shelbyville, Ind., April 20.—Frank Coleman, a well-to-do farmer, while engaged in lifting a sack of cloverseed, injured himself about the head; the injury was followed by paralysis and his death occurred from hemorrhage of the brain.

Conched by Their Mother.

Anderson, Ind., April 20.—Mamie and Annie Muntz, aged 10 and 12, arrested while out pilfering, told the police judge their mother had "spotted" the clothesline and directed them where to go, what to take and what to do with it.

Into Hot Eye.

Rushville, Ind., April 20.—The 4-year-old daughter of William Wilson, a prominent farmer, stepped into a kettle of boiling lye. Her screams attracted her mother, but the child was so badly scalded she died.

Very Politely Put.

Several clergymen boarded a street car in Boston one day, and one of them hearing that Wendell Phillips was in the car got up and asked the conductor to point him out. The conductor did so, and the minister, going up to the orator, said:

"You are Mr. Phillips, I am told."

"Yes, sir."

"I should like to speak to you about something, and I trust, sir, you will not be offended!"

"There is no fear of it," was the sturdy answer, and then the minister began to ask Mr. Phillips earnestly why he persisted in stirring up such an unfriendly agitation in one part of the country about an evil that existed in another part.

"Why," said the clergyman, "do you not go south and kick up this fuss and leave the north in peace?"

Mr. Phillips was not in the least ruffled, and answered smilingly:

"You, sir, I presume, are a minister of the gospel?"

"I am, sir," said the clergyman.

"And your calling is to save souls from hell?"

"Exactly, sir."

"Well, then, why don't you go there?"—San Francisco Argonaut.

Detroit, April 20.—The departure of the first battalion of the Nineteenth infantry from Fort Wayne was marked by a serious accident. During the firing of a salute in honor of the departure of the troops by those left in charge of the fort Private George Eggman had his right arm blown off by the premature explosion of a cannon, and Sergeant John W. Anniss, who was in charge of the firing party, had his right hand severely injured.

F. C. McColm, of Manchester, put up a beautiful monument at Bethany Cemetery Wednesday, April 13th, to the memory of E. M. McDonald.

The many friends of Mr. William Phillips are sorry to learn that ill health prevented him from filling his regular appointment at Bethany on Sunday last.

Rev. Willie Hall's smiling face is seen on the streets of Springdale and he promises us a fine sermon or two at Bethany in the not far distant future. He says a great many churches would do better if they would go back to Jerusalem and begin anew.

The Coal You Didn't Order

Is what got for you a cold reception at home. If you want to have "a hot time" at your house twenty-four hours in the day use SEMI-CANNEL COAL. It burns clean and not too fast; throws out a steady, strong heat and holds fire all night. Take a trial order to-morrow—and when you order a load you'll get FULL WEIGHT everytime, being one of the things we are very particular about.
